Ancient & Original Forms of Chinese Medicine based upon Philosophy & Astrology

I have pursued a wide & varied study of Oriental Medicine through more than 30 years during which time I have progressively developed many different areas of Chinese Medical practice.

Original academic studies were in International Business & Marketing, from which I changed tact to develop skills in Vegetarian, Macrobiotic and later Daoist Cooking. During this time, I was also a practitioner and teacher of Shiatsu, as well as a rather bad life philosopher.

I completed my formal studies in Chinese Medicine with graduation from ICOM (UK) 1991 after a 4-year full time education in Chinese Philosophy, including Stems & Branches/ Wu Yun Liu Qi, TCM & Syndrome Theory, 5 Element Acupuncture and Western Medicine studies. This was one of the first colleges for Chinese Medicine in England, founded by Dr J van Buren in 1972; with whom I was very fortunate to have the chance of making clinical practice during the two latter summers of my education.
